Aimee Alden

Amiee Alden has attended UUSF since 2018. Her two children attend the middle school and high school R.E. programs. This year Amiee is co-teaching the Neighboring Faiths R.E. course and loves that the UU encourages students to experience other faith traditions with an open heart and curious mind.

Amiee serves as UCSF's Senior Director of Local and State Government Relations. She supports UCSF's mission and works to improve health policy by connecting UCSF leadership, faculty, and staff with local and state elected officials and government agencies. She previously worked for elected officials at all levels of government. Amiee holds a Masters of Public Policy from UC Berkeley and a B.A. from Georgetown University. She is originally from Santa Barbara and today lives in San Francisco.
